

Lord Jesus,
 as You walked the dusty road between Samaria and Galilee,
 You met those cast aside,
 their bodies broken.
 And yet You saw them.
 You heard their cry: "Jesus, Master, have mercy on us!"
 In Your gaze was healing before the words were spoken.
 In Your mercy, life began again.
 Ten were healed, but only one returned,
 a stranger, a Samaritan,
 to fall at Your feet in gratitude.
 Lord, awaken in me that same thankful heart.
 Let me not rush on when blessings come,
 nor take for granted the quiet mercies that sustain me.
 Teach me to pause, to return, to kneel, to praise.
 For every breath restored,
 for every wound that mends unseen,
 for every step that carries me closer to You,
 may my life be a thanksgiving.
 And when faith feels small,
 when I walk "on the way," not yet whole,
 remind me that healing unfolds in obedience,
 and gratitude opens the door to deeper grace.
 Lord Jesus, Master and Healer,
 make me whole,
 in body, mind, and spirit,
 let my heart forever say, "Thank You. Amen
